DLA Piper

Gareth Stokes helps clients make the most of new technologies.

Given the rapid adoption of transformative technologies it is easy for today's cutting edge technology to end up lagging behind the curve within the typical lifespan of most IT services contracts.

By building innovation and technology change into the DNA of the deals he works on, Gareth protects his clients from falling behind.

Recently he has worked on projects as diverse as blockchain-based secure payment systems for major clearing banks, secure video-enabled mobile apps for loss adjusters, and a number of artificial intelligence projects in the financial services and insurance sectors.
